GREENSBORO TELEGRAM.

VOL. VI. NO. 119. GREENSBORO, N. C., THURSDAY JUNE 21, 1900. Price Five Cents

SEYMOUR REPORTED KILLED.

NONE OF THE RUMORS CREDITED.

There are all Kinds Afloat, But Few of Them are Credited—One Authentic Dispatch Says That Seymour has not Been Heard of in Seven Days, and Nothing From Tien-Tsin in Five Days—Relief Will Start as Soon as Possible for Tien-Tsin, Around Which Fighting is Constantly Going On.

By Wire to the Telegram

London, June 21—The Admiralty has received the following dispatch from Rear Admiral Bruce: "Taku, via Chee Foo, June 21—No communication has been received from the commander-in-chief in seven days, and none from Tien-Tsin in five days. The allies hold the Taku forts and Tong-Ku securely. They will advance to the relief of Tien-Tsin when sufficient strength has been received. Troops are expected from Hong Kong tomorrow, and 300 from Wei-Ha-Wei the following day.

"It is believed that fighting is going on constantly around Tie-Tsin. The garrison there should be about 3,000 men. The following proclamation was agreed to this morning: 'Be assured forthwith that the admirals and senior naval officers of the allied powers in China desire to make known to all viceroys and other authorities along the coasts and rivers, and in the cities and provinces of China that they intend to use armed force only against the Boxers and people who oppose them in their march to Pekin to rescue their countrymen.'"

RUMORS NOT CREDITED.

London, June 21.—A dispatch to a news agency from Yokohama, under today's date, says it is generally discredited that the foreign ministry at Pekin had been murdered, also that Admiral Seymour, the commander of the allied naval forces, is dead, as has been rumored.

RED CROSS AT WORK.

Vienna, June 21—Official advices received from Tokio say that 100 officers and men who were wounded at Taku were conveyed to the Japanese marine depot at Iaio, where they were taken care of by surgeons and nurses from the Red Cross society.

NOTHING HEARD OF SEYMOUR.

Shanghai, June 21. — The British torpedo boat Whiting has arrived at Chefoo and the commander reported that nothing had been heard of Admiral Seymour's international force for six days.

FRANCE TO SEND TROOPS.

Paris, June 21.—A dispatch to the Figaro from Marseilles says that the French government has approached a navigation company with a view of chartering steamship conveyance for 1,000 troops to China.

THE REBELLION SPREADING.

London, June 21, 3:50 a. m.—The reports of Admiral Seymour's arrival at Pekin and of the safety of the foreign legations, originating from Chinese sources and cabled to this city from Shanghai, are still unverified. However, the Italian consul at Shanghai has wired to the Italian foreign minister, Marquis Visconti Venosta, that the legations are safe.

The rebellion is spreading far and wide. There is an impression in diplomatic circles here and on the continent that the allies have not yet grappled with the situation effectively, and that even 50,000 troops would be powerless to control 4,000,000 square miles.

The latest story sent out by the Shanghai gossips is that Prince Tuan, president of the Tsung Li Yamen, has burned the imperial palace at Pekin and murdered the Emporer, and that the Empress Dowager has committed suicide.

The effect of the bombardment of the Taku forts, as described by the Shanghai correspondents, was gory in the extreme, nothing less than "rivers of blood" and "mutilated corpses piled up inside the forts."

The Russians guarding Tien-Tsin, according to another report, fired rifles and artillery, June 15th, at a range of fifty yards, into dense crowds of attacking Boxers and killed 300.

SEYMOUR'S MARCH.

London, Sune 20.—A news agency dispatch from Shanghai, dated June 20th, says: "After an arduous march and frequent fighting with the Chinese, Vice Admiral Seymour arrived at Pekin Sunday afternoon. On five occasions the Chinese attacked the column in great force. There were many mounted men among the Chinese, but most of the natives were badly armed. At times they fought with admirable courage and bravery. The losses of the Chinese during the march are estimated at 500 killed. The losses of the foreigners were trifling.

"The exact state of affairs inside Pekin it is impossible to describe, in view of the many conflicting reports, nothing having been received from the legations or foreigners there. Surprise is expressed at the fact that a large force of Indian troops has not been ordered there."

Li Hung Chang to Remain in Canton.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Hong Kong, June 21.—Reports received here from Canton say that owing to the reprsentations of the foreign consuls, Li Hung Chang has consented to remain in Canton and not go to Pekin.

Russian Minister Dead.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Roosevelt Effects Stocks.

By Wire to the Telegram

New York, Jue 21.—It is reported that if Roosevelt is nominated it will have strong effect on stocks.

New York, June 21.—Cotton, June, 66, July 69, August 50.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER.

A Splendid Entertainment at the Normal Last Night.

Though not a part of commencement proper, the entertainment at the State Normal and Industrial College last night was one of the most pleasant occasions of the week. The entertainment was in the hands of the young ladies of the Adelphian and Cornelian Literary Societies, who presented Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

The performers had studied their parts well and rendered the play in a manner that reflected credit upon themselves and their trainers. There was not a dull moment in the entire performance, which was witnessed by a very large audience.

After the entertainment was over a short while was spent socially, an opportunity being given students and visitors to meet their friends in the audience.

"BEST PEOPLE ON EARTH."

An Organization of Elks Perfected—Will Start Out With a Good Membership.

A preliminary meeting of the charter members of a lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, now being organized in the city, was held last night and the following officers elected:

Esteemed Ruler—J. D. Glenn.

Esteemed Leading Knight—N. J. O'Brien.

Esteemed Loyal Knight—C. M. Vanstory.

Esteemed Excellent Knight—Julian Price.

Secretary—Lee H. Battle.

Treasurer—T. C. McCorkle.

Esquire—Garland Daniel.

There are several other offices to be filled by appointment.

Committees on reception, banquet and lodge room were appointed.

Another meeting will be held next Wednesday night, at which time the organization will be perfected and the secret work conferred.

There are about 35 names on the charter list and the lodge will start out under auspicious circumstances.

Mr. Edgerton Acquitted.

Before the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in one of the cases charging Mr. M. T. Edgerton with retailing. The case was hard fought, each side putting forth every effort. There is one other case against Mr. Edgerton yet to be disposed of.

GEN. GLENN FOR THE SENATE.

HIS FRIENDS WISH HIM NOMINATED.

He is Not a Candidate and Will Make No Effort to Secure the Nomination---If it Were Tendered Him He Would Consider it His Duty to Serve His Party---Has Served Three Terms in the House.

The Democratic county convention will assemble in this city on June 30th —one week from next Saturday—for the purpose of nominating candidates for county and legislative offices. So far very little has been said in reference to the personel of the ticket to be named, the general impression being that the assembled Democracy will make no mistake and that a winning ticket will be put out.

Some interest has been manifested in the nominees for the State Senate and the House of Representatives, though there are no avowed candidates for either of the nominations. The Greensboro Patriot this week contained the following communication endorsing a well-known gentleman for the Senatorial nomination:

"EDITOR PATRIOT:—The Democratic candidate for Senator for Guilford county ought to be a man who has not been identified with any faction of the party, whose Democracy no man can question, and who will make a strong canvass on the stump. These requirements are all amply realized in the person of Gen. J. D. Glenn, of Greensboro, and his candidacy would be most acceptable to the people of my township. "ROCK CREEK."

When Gen. Glenn was seen by the Telegram today he stated that he was in no sense a candidate, nor would he be, though he had been approached by several of his friends in regard to the matter. However, he added that if the party should see fit to place the nomination in his hands, he could not, as a consistent and lifelong Democrat, refuse the honor. In this event he would consider it his duty to render his party the best service possible.

Gen. Glenn is well known throughout the entire county and has a large number of friends who would gladly support him.

In 1894, when the Democracy of Guilford went down before the fusionists, he was a candidate for the House of Representatives and made a splendid race, being defeated by a small majority. In 1896 a number of delegates to the county convention were instructed to support him for the Senatorial nomination, but on account of business engagements he refusod to allow his name to go before the convention.

Gen. Glenn is not without experience in the Legislature, having served three successive terms in the House of Representatives while a citizen of Rockingham county. He was elected in 1881, '83 and '85, and served his constituency with credit and honor.

WRECK NEAR BATTLE GROUND.

Four Freight Cars Demolished and the Track Torn Up.

A freight train on the A. & Y. division of the Southern was wrecked beyond the Battle Ground between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the accident being caused by the axle of a car breaking. Seven or eight cars were derailed, four of which were completely demolished. The track was torn up for a distance of 50 or 60 feet. A wrecking crew was sent out from Greensboro.

The Ramseur train was forced to come around by Rural Hall and Winston, reaching Greensboro at 11 o'clock last night.

Miss Hall's Grade in Stenography.

In the report of the grade of the graduates of the commercial department of the State Normal and Industrial College, published in yesterday's Telegram, Miss Mabel Hall, of this city, was credited with a speed of 80 words a minute in stenography, when it should have been 100 words. The mistake was made in copying the list, the error being discovered after the certificates had been awarded.

Miss Hall's certificate shows that she has attained a speed of 100 words a minute, which is far above the average.

Mr. H. H. Tate is out after an illness of several days.

BOERS SURRENDERING.

Buller has Gone two Miles Further on the West of Railway.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Valkrust, June 21.—Buller has arrived at Sand Tpmit station and camped two miles further on the westward of the railroad. Many Boers met him and surrendered.

SAYS KRUGER HAS ESCAPED.

London, June 21, 4:10 a. m.—The British have penetrated Transvaal territory as far as Machadoorp. Passengers who arrived yesterday at Lorenzo Marques, from the Transvaal, assert that heavy artillery was engaged and that the Boers abandoned Machadoorp, retiring northward. President Kruger is still at Alkmaar. Boer bulletins regarding General Dewet's operations along Lord Roberts' communications assert that two convoys were captured and 300 workmen with 50 military taken prisoners. A member of the British House of Commons who has had an important communication from South Africa, is telling a story of a telegram alleged to have been received from Cape Town, which says Mr. Kruger has really escaped, and is already on the seas bound for Europe, and that the person occupying the executive car is not Mr. Kruger, but is a substitute. The Pretoria correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in a dispatch dated Sunday, says:

"An informal truce for five days is in operation between Lord Roberts and Commandant Botha."

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Southern Delegation Greatly Stirred Up Over Quay's Resolution.

Philadelphia, June 20.—The resolution today introduced by ex-Senator Quay in the convention, relating to the re-arrangement of the basis of representation in future national conventions, has created a sensation, particularly among the delegations from the Southern States. To-night the interest manifested in the proposition is scarcely second to that aroused by the contest for the vice presidency. The table below shows how the Quay plan would reduce the representation of Southern States.

States.	Present representation.	Proposed representation.
Alabama	22.	9.
Arkansas	16.	8.
Florida	8	5.
Georgia	26.	10.
Louisana	16.	6.
Mississippi	18.	5.
North Carolina	22.	20.
Tennessee	24.	19.
Texas	30.	21.
Virginia	24.	18
South Carolina	18.	5

Tonight General Bingham said that the committee on rules would bring the resolution before the convention tomorrow in an amended form. It will provide for a reference of the question of changing the basis of representation to the national committee, with instructions to take action upon it, in accordance with the spirit of the resolution presented by Mr. Quay. As it is the pending question before the convention its discussion will begin as soon as the convention convenes.

Masonic.

There will be a regular convocation of Chorazin Chapter No. 13, Royal Arch Masons, tonight at 8 o'clock. Visitors cordially welcomed.

JAS. D. GLENN, H. P.
W. T. GAYLE, Secretary.

Mr. Jones on the Stump.

Mr. E. B. Jones, of Winston, went to Pleasant Garden this afternoon to speak for the amendment. He spoke at Elon College yesterday and at Altamahaw last night, having a large crowd at both places.

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT.

BOTH NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION

The Whole Crowd Went Wild Over McKinley—Dolliver and Long Were Both Withdrawn for Vice-President and the Diffident Man Went in With a Whoop—Everything was Apparent From the Beginning.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Philadelphia, June 21—The Republican convention was called to order this morning at 10:32. The convention hall filled rapidly. Great cheering went up as Hanna, Depew, Roosevelt and others entered. The Kansas delegation carried a banner, claiming to be the first to declare for Roosevelt. Roosevelt was still non committal this morning, and disavowed interviews which quoted him as ready to accept, but his friends said all along that he would bow to the will of the party. Archbishop Ryan made the opening prayer. Editor Young, of the Des Moines Capital, was selected to nominate Roosevelt.

M'KINLEY NOMINATED.

At a few minutes past eleven Senator Foraker rose to put President McKinley's name in nomination. At 11:15 he concluded and the audience went wild, cheering, waving banners, and shouting for a vote. Senator Thurston followed Foraker, and Yerks, of Kentucky, also made a seconding speech. In spite of the wild yells of the delegates to be allowed to vote, McKnight of Colorado was also recognized and made a speech. Then at 12:48 McKinley was nominated by acclamation, amid the greatest possible demonstration.

ROOSEVELT BY ACCLAMATION.

Senator Lodge ordered the roll call for the nomination of Vice President. Alabama yielded to Young, of Des Moines, who withdrew Dolliver and nominated Roosevelt. Murry, of Massachussets, withdrew Long and seconded Roosevelt's nomination. At 2 p. m. the Rough Rider was nominated by acclamation.

At 2:15 the convention adjourned.

STATUTE OF LIMITATION APPLIED

A Lawyer Cites the Law of Moses to Sustain His Position.

When a lawyer sets his head on anything he is hard to down, whether he has the law on his side or not. In the Superior Court yesterday Lawyer Will Ragan appeared for a citizen of High Point who had a man indicted for trespass. It so happened that the property belonged to the wife of Mr. Ragan's client, and she had not objected to the defendant's presence. It began to look as if the case would go against the plaintiff, when, as a last resort, Mr. Ragan fell back on scripture. When asked to cite the authority for his position he said:

"May it please your Honor, the principle of law upon which I rely is older than Christian civilization. It was recognized as authority by Moses and the prophets who followed him. I cite you to the sixteenth verse of the third chapter of Genesis, which says a husband shall rule over his wife."

The Judge thought the statute of limitation might be applied to this law; but Mr. Ragan won his case.

A carload of girls converted to Mormonism passed through Denver recently to join the Utah followers of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. They were in charge of a deacon and the deacon's wife. Some were eighteen and twenty-two years of age, but there was none older than that. They came from Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, and other valley States. All expect to marry Mormons.

News has been received of the destruction by fire of the Commonwealth Mining Company's mill at Pearce, Arizona. The loss is estimated at half a million.

At Macon, Ga., Senator A. O. Bacon is just recovering from a severe attack of eating toadstools, which he mistook for mushrooms.

Mr. John M. Dick has just received the latest consignment of new machinery for his laundry.

MR. BAILEY'S WORTHY GIFT.

CONTRIBUTES $1,000 TO THE NORMAL.

He and Mrs. Bailey Will Provide a Room in the Students Building in Memory of Their Daughters---To be Known as the Sarah and Evelyn Bailey Room---The Fine Spirit Actuating the Gift---Other Donations During the Past Year.

It will be remembered that when the State Normal and Industrial College was visited by a terrible epidemic last fall Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bailey, of Mocksville, were among the most sorely afflicted. Their two bright and attractive young daughters—their only children—were stricken by the dreaded fever, and died. While nursing her daughters Mrs. Bailey succumbed to the same disease, and for weeks her life hung in the balance.

After the death of his daughters, and before his wife had recovered, Mr. Bailey announced his purpose of establishing the "Sarah and Evelyn Bailey Memorial Fund," in loving memory of those who had gone and through a desire to aid others in the enjoyment of the privileges and advantages of the institution which is among North Carolina's chief educational glories. The fund was established, and when the college was reopened last January the beneficiary, named by Mr. Bailey, matriculated.

The spirit which moved Mr. Bailey in this noble and philanthropic act has prompted him to still further generosity, as witness the following letter received by President McIver:

"DEAR SIR:—My wife and I subscribe $1,000 to provide a room in the Students' Building for the Young Women's Christian Association, the same to be marked in some way and known as the "Sarah and Evelyn Bailey Room." This amount is subscribed on the conditions stated in your letter and will be paid when needed to complete such a building.

"Of course we make this subscription humbly trusting that it may encourage the young women in their Christian work as they gather at the State Normal from year to year.

"We expect to keep up our memorial fund and pay the expenses of a student at the Normal.

"I enclose a check for $10, it being the amount collected by Sarah for the Students' Building from a friend in the West. Please acknowledge receipt of the same.

"Sarah's heart was never so much set on anything as on the Students' Building, and had she lived she would have done someting for it. We are glad thus to honor her own and her sister's memory.

"With kindest regards,

"Yours sincerely,

"T. B. BAILEY."

* * * *

During the past year the college has been the recipient of a number of small gifts, amounting in the aggregate to a considerable amount. While the amounts have not been large, their number and the conditions under which the donations were made speak most eloquently of the place occupied by the institution in the hearts of the people.

The majority of the gifts were by North Carolinians, though several came from other States. A lady in far-away Wyoming, after reading in the Outlook of the great work being accomplished by the State Normal and Industrial College, sent a check for a small amount as an expression of her interest. Another donation from a distance came from a gentleman in Brooklyn, N. Y., and a banker in New York City has announced his intention of giving the institution a thousand dollars.

Washington Post.

It is going to be a great campaign—great in effort and excitement, at any rate. It will be great in these respects because it will be doubtful from start to finish. That the Republican party, in spite of its splendid organization and discipline, in spite of its long succession of victories, beginning in 1893 and ending with a signal triumph in Oregon a few days ago, is opposed by a majority of the voters at this time is generally believed. Can that opposition be practically solidified?—that is the question on which the result will depend.

Starvation never yet cured dyspepsia. Persons with indidestion are already half starved. They need plenty of wholsome food. Kodol dyspepsia cure digests what you eat so the body can be nourished while the worn out organs are being reconstructed It is the only preparation known that will instantly relieve and completely cure all stomach troubles. It is certain to you good. Howard Gardner. tf.

HE FOUND IT.

Wifey Didn't Exactly Follow His Suggestion as to Presents.

"My wife has been questioning me for the past three weeks about what I would like for Chrismas."

"Well, I suppose you told her?"

"Yes. The first thing I thought of was an umbrella, because it is quite a distance from my house to the train. and I have to walk it. A nice umbrella would come in handy on rainy days. Then there are some books I would like very much. I gave her a list of them as nearly as I could at the start, and have been adding to it day by day as I happened to think of something else in that line. I mentioned cuff buttons and studs for full dress occasions. and I gave her to understand that if she did not feel like troubling herself over the matter, I would be glad to take the money she had set aside for me and buy myself some cigars. Last night I had occasion to look into a closet we don't use much, and there I found my present, all ready to be placed before me on Christmas morning."

Of course, then, she hadn't quite adopted your suggestion as to the cigars."

"No. I'm going to be made glad with a beautifully worked sofa pillow. —Chicago Times-Herald.

Reports show that over fifteen hundred lives have been saved through the use of One Minute Cough Cure. Most of these were cases of grippe, croup, asthma, whooping cough, bronchitis and pneumonia. Its early use prevents consumption. Howard Gardner. tf.

Unless food is digested quickly it will ferment and irritate the stomach. After each meal take a teaspoonful of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and will allow you to eat all you need of what you like. It never fails to cure the worst cases of dyspepsia. It is pleasant to take. Howard Gardner.

If your watch won't run, you have a talk with the watchmaker. If you are in physical distress you call a physician. If your house is outwardly rusty, a painter will brighten it. It's a case of every man to his own trade and then your work will be well done. A watchmaker cannot mend impaired health; nor can a physician set the wheels of a broken watch in motion. No more can every man fit glasses or remedy eye ailments successfully. See Drs. Moore, 112 E. Market street.

ALEX. M'IVER FOR AMENDMENT.

A Life-Long Republican Comes Over--To Attack It in the U. S. District Court. Ball Cranks in Fine Feather--Mr. Pou's Strange Phenomena.

Special Correspondence of the Telegram.

Raleigh, June 21.—It is the opinion of the commissioner of agriculture, after a very careful review of the returns made by correspondents, that the increase in the acreage of cotton is ten per cent. He says the increase of eight per cent. in the condition of wheat is too small, he is satisfied.

James H. Pou says that during the rains of Saturday to Wednesday morning none fell on his farm in Johnston, yet so saturated was the air with moisture that Tuesday the land, which had been very dry, was fit to be plowed. He says it is one of the most curious phenomena he ever knew of.

Alex. McIver, of Chatham county, an almost life-long Republican, who was for several years State Superintendent of public instruction, comes out for the franchise amendment. He gives as his reasons that it will disfranchise no white man, will benefit all classes and conditions, secure good government, bring peace, harmony and good will to all and that it is a lawful and proper construction of the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It does not appear to be any secret that the Republican leaders' plan now is to attack the franchise amendment in the U. S. District Courts, which they assert have original jurisdiction.

The State Agricultural Department has, since Commissioner Patterson took charge again as commissioner, that is in one year, saved no less than $9,000 in the matter of cost of inspection of fertilizers, as compared with that during the last year of the fusion management, when it was $15,000. For the year ended June 1st, it was only $6,000, yet about a dozen inspectors were employed. Number of analysis made under Patterson is twice as great as it was during the last year of the fusion mismanagement.

The baseball cranks are in their glory. They are now figuring on which of the six State association teams will lead, and say Statesville, Durham and Tarboro are to be the heavy weights. Some of the sporting papers speak of the association as a league and this it seems barred some of the college players. One club had contracted for the battery of Brown University, but because it was said this was a league Tarboro failed to get that battery.

BILL DOODY'S RENT

"Oh ullagone, ullagone! this is a wide world, but what will we do in it or where will we go?" muttered Bill Doody, as he sat on a rock by the Lake of Killarny. "What will we do? To-morrow's rent-day, and Tim the Driver swears if we don't pay up our rent, he'll cart every ha-porth we have; and then, sure enough, there's Judy and myself, and the poor little grawls (children) will be turned out to starve on the high road, for the never a half-penny of rent have I:—Oh hone, that I should live to see this day!"

Thus did Bill Doody bemoan his hard fate, pouring his sorrows to the reckless waves of the most beautiful lakes, which seemed to mock his misery, as they rejoiced beneath the cloudless sky of a May morning. That lake, glittering in sunshine, sprinkled with fairy islands of rock and verdure, and bounded by giant hills of ever-varying hues, might, with its magic beauty, charm all sadness but despair; for alas,

"How ill the scene that offers rest
And hearth that cannot rest agree!"

Yet Bill Doody was not so desolate as he supposed; there was one listening to him he little thought of; help was at hand from a quarter he could not have expected.

"What's the matter with you, my poor man?" said a tall, portly-looking gentleman, at the same time stepping out of a furze-brake. Now Bill was seated on a rock that commanded the view of a large field. Nothing in the field could be concealed from him except this furze-brake, which grew in a hollow near the margin of the lake. He was, therefore, not a little surprised at the gentleman's sudden appearance, and began to question whether the personage before him belonged to this world or not. He, however, soon mustered courage sufficient to tell him how his crops had failed how some bad member had charmed away his butter, and how Tim the driver, threatened to turn him out of the farm if he didn't pay up every penny of the rent by twelve o'clock next day.

"A sad story, indeed," said the stranger; "but surely, if you represented the case to your landlord's agent, he won't have the heart to turn you out."

"Heart, your honor! where would an agent get a heart?" exclaimed Bill "I see your honor does not know him; besides, he has an eye on the farm this long time for a fosterer of his own; so I expect no mercy at all, at all, only to be turned out."

"Take this, my poor fellow, take this," said the stranger, pouring a purse full of gold into Bill's old hat, which in his grief he had flung on the ground. "Pay the fellow your rent but I'll take care it shall do him no good. I remember the time when things went ot. rwise in this country, when I would have hung up such a fellow in the twinkling of an eye!"

These words were lost upon Bill, who was insensible to everything but the sight of gold, and before he could unfix his gaze, and lift up his head to pour out his hundred thousand blessings, the stranger was gone. The bewildered peasant looked around in search of his benefactor, and at last he thought he saw him riding on a white horse a long way off on the lake.

"O'Donoghue, O'Donoghue!" shouted Bill; "the good, the blessed O'Donoghue!" and he ran capering like a madman to show Judy the gold, and to rejoice her heart with the prospect of wealth and happiness.

The next day Bill proceeded to the agent's; not sneakingly, with his hat in his hand, his eyes fixed on the ground, and his knees bending under him; but bold and upright, like a man conscious of his independence.

"Why don't you take off your hat, fellow? don't you know you are speaking to a magistrate?" said the agent.

"I know I'm not speaking to the king, sir," said Bill; "and I never take off my hat but to them I can respect and love. The Eye that sees all knows I have no right either to respect or love an agent!"

"You scoundrel!" retorted the man in the office, biting his lips with rage at such an unusual and unexpected opposition. "I'll teach you how to be insolent again—I have the power, remember."

"To the cost of the country, I know you have," said Bill, who still remained with his head as firmly covered as if he was the Lord Kingsale himself.

"But, come," said the magistrate; have you got the money for me?—this is rent-day. If there's one penny of it wanting, or the running gale that's due, prepare to turn out before night, for you shall not remain another hour in possession.

"There is your rent," said Bill, with an unmoved expression of tone and countenance; "you'd better count it, and give me a receipt in full for the running gale and all.

The agent gave a look of amazement at the gold; for it was gold—real guineas! and not bits of dirty ragged small notes, that are only fit to lght one's pipe with. However willing the agent may have been to ruin, as he thought, the unfortunate tenant, he took up the gold, and handed the receipt to Bill who strutted off with it, as proud as a cat of her whiskers.

The agent, going to his desk shortly after, was confounded at beholding a heap of gingerbread cakes instead of the money he had deposited there. He raved and swore, but all to no purpose; the gold had become gingerbread cakes; just marked like the guineas, with the king's head, and Bill had the receipt in his pocket; so he saw there was no use in saying anything about the affair, as he would only get laughed at for his pains.

From that hour Bill Doody grew rich; all his undertakings prospered; and he often blesses the day that he met with O'Donoghue, the great prince that lives down under the Lake of Killarney.

Is Quack Doctor More Dangerous than a Quack Plumber?

When you are sick why is it that you do not peddle out the job of dosing you, to the lowest bidder? You would get it done much cheaper than your family physician would do it, but some QUACK DOCTOR would get the job. Your plumbing is of vital importance and you can no more afford to have your plumbing done by a quack plumber than to call in a quack doctor when sick.

Give us your work and it will be done properly and price will be reasonable.

CANCER IS NOT INCURABLE

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, flesh-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effete matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop from a sore or ulcer on your tongue or other part of your body; a slight bruise or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or nose, a small lump on the jaw or breast, a harmless looking wart or mole, and other causes so insignificant as to attract little or no attention. If you have an obstinate sore, don't rely upon salves or ointments to cure it—begin with S. S. S. at once; it will cleanse your blood and prevent the formation of cancerous cells.

Impure Blood Invites Disease.

Mrs. R. Shirer, La Plata, Mo., writes: "A small pimple came on my jaw about one inch below the ear on the left side of my face. At first it gave me no trouble, and I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At the same time the sore began to spread and eat into the flesh, and gave me intense pain. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I then began the use of S. S. S., and after taking several bottles the Cancer healed, and there is now no sign of the disease. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health."

Send for our special book on Cancer; it contains much information that will interest you; it is free.

Write our physicians about your case, and for any advice or information wanted; they have made a life study of Cancer and all blood diseases. We make no charge whatever for this.

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1900.

THE SIREN OF TEMPTATION.

It is a well known fact that Jas. A. Garfield, good man in many respects that he was, came to the presidency through the devious path of unfaithfulness. Hayes, his predecessor in office, was simply the recipient of stolen goods, and deserves no mention. But the case of Garfield was different, so different, indeed, that history will not put him down as a wrong doer; he was not, in the usual acceptation of the word, but measured by that fine sense of honor that makes men noble, his path was devious. In the convention of 1880 he was a delegate from Ohio, pledged and instructed by his State to vote and work for the nomination of Sherman. But the nomination was offered to him after that of his principal became doubtful. He recognized it as a temptation, but yielded to it, and became president.

Eight years afterward, when Benjamin Harrison was nominated, Mr. McKinley was placed in pretty nearly the some circumstances. John Sherman was again the candidate, and again the antagonism was so great that his nomination seemed impossible. Mr. McKinley began to be spoken of as a dark horse, but, says the New York Sun, when on the fourth ballot, Connecticut recorded a vote for him, he made the best speech of his life, saying:

I am here as one of the chosen representatives of my State. I am here by a resolution of the Republican Convention, passed without one dissenting voice, commanding me to cast my vote for John Sherman, and to use every worthy endeavor for his nomination. I accepted the trust because my heart and my judgment were in accord with the letter and spirit and purpose of that resolution. It has pleased certain delegates to cast their votes for me. I am not insensible to the honor they would do me, but in the presence of the duty resting upon me I cannot remain silent with honor. I cannot consistently with the credit of the State whose credentials I bear and which has trusted me—I cannot with honorable fidelity to John Sherman, who has trusted me in his cause and with his confidence—I cannot consistently with my own views of my personal integrity consent or seem to consent to permit my name to be used as a candidate before this convention. I would not respect myself if I could find it in my heart to do, to say, or to permit to be done that which could even be ground for any one to suspect that I wavered in my loyalty to Ohio or my devotion to the chief of her choice and the chief of mine. I do not request—I demand that no delegate who would not cast reflection upon me shall cast a ballot for me.

If that speech was correctly reported, a nobler one was never made. Most men can resist a temptation that comes in a glaring form; but when it comes in a way that seems, after all, not so wrong, and appeals to vanity and ambition, it is the man of a strong sense of honor, integrity and faithfulness, that resists, and puts the tempter behind. When Ulyses knew that he must encounter the sirens, he stopped his sailors' ears with wax and had them bind him to the mast because he knew that he must provide himself and them assurance from temptation. And so the man who would not yield to the tempter even in his most subtile and enticing forms, must ever assure himself against it by the most careful preservation of his own integrity and the most exacting scrutiny of his own honor.

The proposition to reduce the southern representation in the National convention ought to prove to the Southern delegates how much the party thinks of them.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The hand that drafted the Republican platform, though skilled in making the worse look the better, produced a lamentably weak instrument, scarcely strong even in the skill with which it covers the duplicity and insincerity of the party. It is a forcible comment upon the Republican party, that, having the able men in its ranks that it unquestionably has, its national convention should put out a paper so evidently trimmed to catch every breeze, and so unjust in some of its provisions, and unstatesmanlike in its utterances.

The Telegram yesterday gave a forecast of the platform as it was adopted. It endorses McKinley in all that he has ever done, and by inference, everything that he may ever see fit to do. This is not surprising when it is remembered that the platform was practically prepared in Washington by the administration forces. There is one never failing source of Republican inspiration—prosperity, and this platform drew bountifully upon the fountain. It says that the Republican party promised in 1896 "to restore prosperity by means of two legislative measures—a protective tariff and making gold the standard of value," and that the "promise has been redeemed and the commission executed," notwithstanding the well known fact that the country began recovering from its long period of depression before the tariff bill was ever enacted, and that the gold standard law was passed three years after the party was return- to power.

This plank is an expression of duplicity; the references to trusts and the Nicaragua canal are examples of the insincerity with which the platform abounds. It promises to restrain trusts and "protect and promote competition," in the face of the fact that Hanna, its author and promised executive, only a few weeks ago was making public speeches in support of trusts, and the further fact that the basic policy of the party is a colossal suppression of competition. The plank promising the construction of the Nicaragua canal is a solemn mockery in the face of the fact that the party has had an unlimited opportunity to carry out this measure, but has refused to do so, because, it is charged, of the influence of the trans-continental railroads.

The promise of protection to American labor is a mockery, and the usual advocacy of liberal pension laws, is the usual advocacy of robbery of the people for the benefit of the Republican party. There is also a promise of a reduction of war taxes, a restoration of the trade-carrying fleets, independence and self-government for Cuba, and a continuation of the President's policy towards the other countries now under our supervision. One plank is especially interesting to the South:

It was the plain purpose of the fifteenth amendment to the constitution to prevent discrimination on account of race or color in regulating the elective franchise. Devices of State governments, whether by statutory or constitutional enactments, to avoid the purpose of this amendment are revolutionary and should be condemned.

That is, without doubt, the most contemptible plank in the whole platform. The Republican party cares nothing for the negro of the South, but it is willing to sacrifice the interests of both races, the wishes and aspirations of the white people of this section, for such advantages as it may get from a plank like this, intended for consumption in the doubtful states where the negro vote is worth something. Really, there is little in this platform for the Democratic party to fear, handicapped as the national Democracy this year is by the incubus of populism, a wrong position on an expansion, and the mistake of the advocacy of free silver.

The Republicans have started out with the wrong bridle and saddle on the prosperity horse.

An institution that can awaken in the hearts of men the inspiration to write the letter and make the donation that Mr. T. B. Bailey does to the State Normal and Industrial College, may well feel firmly imbedded in the affections of the people. Affliction has disimilar effects upon different people. Some it embitters, others it refines and brings out jatent nobility of character. Having lost his two daughters, the flowers of his home, and nearly lost his wife, in the fearful epidemic of last fall at the College, Mr. Bailey would have been but human had he lost whatever affection he might have entertained towards that school, but on the contrary, his affliction leads his heart out into the by-ways in sympathy for girls who may desire, but he denied, its advantages, and he is prompted to extend its blessings as far as possible. A generous deed, worthy to be held in perpetuity.

The report that says it is not Mr. Kruger in that gentleman's car at all, but a substitute, may well be believed. The depot gods at Greensboro often notice old gentlemen sitting back in Pullmans whose faces could well be mistaken for Oom Paul's if they were in the vicinity of Pretoria.

What has become of Mr. McKinley's usual plank promising international bimetallism?

Butler's Mistake.

Charlotte News.

Saturday Senator Butler was speaking at Morganton and picked up a little boy of 11 years, saying that in 10 years the boy would be 21 years old, but would not be able to vote because he would not be able to read and write and thus comply with the requirements of the franchise amendment. He thought the boy was white and that he was making a great point, but at that moment someone cried out: "Senator, you've got a mulatto." At this a big laugh went up and the Senator dropped the boy as quickly as if he were a hot potato. The senator really shouldn't have dropped the boy, because he had one of his own crowd. It is probable that a good many mulattoes and a good many negroes who are now eleven years old cannot vote when they get to be 21; but there is little possibility of any white boy not learning to read and write in the next ten years.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

MISS O'BRIEN ENTERTAINS.

The Bachelor Girls Find Her a Charming Hostess.

The Bachelor Girls were charmingly entertained this morning from 10 to 12:30 by Miss Frances O'Brien, complimentary to her friend, Miss Martha Harvie, of Danville. The game of hearts was played, and proved an exceedingly pleasant pastime for the fresh morning hours, while the members of the club, in their dainty summer gowns, formed a most attractive group.

Miss Lottie Peyton and Miss Ruth Porter were the most successful players in the contest, and cut for the prize, which was awarded to Miss Peyton. The prize was an exquisite little cup and saucer.

Refreshments in keeping with the rest of this charming entertainment were served at the close of the game. Miss O'Brien's guests were: Misses Pearl and Lizzie Balsley, Lizzie Lee Dick, Ruth Porter, Lilian Staples, May and Alice Small, Mabel Kase, Mary Goolsby, Lottie Peyton and Imogene Bernard.

A SKUNK FARM IN OHIO.

THE NEW INDUSTRY PAYS FAIRLY WELL.

What the Animals Like for Food—Price of Their Fur—Little Skunks Are as Playful as Kittens—The Proper Time for Marketing.

The oldest and largest skunk farm in Ohio is located six miles northeast of Upper Sandusky, Wyandot county, and is owned by Silas B. DeBolt, who has for six years past been engaged in this enterprise. While Mr. DeBolt has been ordinarily successful with his undertaking, he does not express himself enthusiastically as to the financial gains and success of the enterprise. Mr. DeBolt is in a position to do far better than many others, as one of the requisites is said to be plenty of room for the animals to run and pasture, as they positively will not thrive in close confinement. Mr. DeBolt has a piece of meadow land amounting to four acres, which is called the "park." It is rolling, with a stream of water threading its way in and out, the water being another desirable feature. The ground is enclosed by a fence about four feet high, with two feet of wire network around the base to prevent the animals from digging or climbing out In summer they are to be seen around the park all day long, and are able to find enough to eat in the way of grasshoppers, bugs and worms. As the weather grows cold they only come out about four o'clock, or when the sun is brightest; and in severe weather they are not seen for days, only appearing to get food, which, in winter weather, consists of scraps from the table or the offal from the meat market. The statement that they are fond of chickens and will rob the hen roost is contradicted, although it is said they are fond of eggs.

Mr. DeBolt is genuinely fond of his skunks. They are much in appearance like the cat, with shorter legs and large, bushy tails. There are some with only a small patch of white on the top of the head, the rest of the body a glossy black. Others have a broad white stripe down the back. The less white fur the more valuable the pelt, and as there are very few of the very black skunks, this is one of the reasons why there is not so much profit as one is led to believe. The blackest fur will bring $1.35, but where there is a plentiful sprinkling of white the sum realized is 35 cents, and sometimes as low as 10 cents. The oil is said to be valuable in cases of asthma, colds, croup and similar affections, and while it is said to be worth 50 cents an ounce, the class of men who engage in skunk farming are not the class who are in a position to dispose of the oil to advantage, and a half pint will bring but 10 to 15 cents. In regard to marketing the fur, while the farmer is allowed 10 to 35 cents for the pelts containing the white fur, the furrier is able to sew the white together, dye it and put it on the market as a second grade of fur which will bring but little less than the first grade. Only a few weeks ago Mr. DeBolt shipped $50 worth of the pelts to Chicago and New York, and a few weeks previous he shipped another $50 lot, but he said what he realized was much less than half that sum. He has about fifty skunks in the park.

In February Mr. DeBolt received a letter from W. Fowler, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, asking for pelts of skunks or any other fur-bearing animal for the London house represented by Mr. Fowler, as he had been unable to meet the demand for furs of all kinds. All furriers say the demand for furs has been greater the past year than ever before.

The skunks are trapped either by the wooden or steel trap, and are usually brought in in a burlap sack. Those engaged in raising the animal will pay a bounty of 25 cents and allow something besides for the pelt. The animal is scientifically killed by chloroform or a blow on the head. The disagreeably odor which characterizes the skunk is discharged when it dies, and for this reason the sooner the animal is skinned and the pelt cured the better and freer from the unsavory odor. This fluid is only discharged when the animal is frightened and as a means of defense. The sack containing the fluid can be removed from the kittens, but not so well from the older skunks.

The little skunks are just large enough to be playful about the time of planting in the spring. The kittens are particularly pretty, and it is said to be a pretty sight to see the mother skunk with six to a dozen kittens following the plow across the field. When a worm is found she will stop and give it to the first of the little ones in line, then the next worm is given to number two and so on until all have been fed.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMEN AS POLITICIANS.

THEY WIELD SCEPTRE IN HALL OF CONGRESS.

The Statesman in Society is More Successfully Approached at Five O'clock Teas Than Anywhere Else —Lobbyist Plays Second Fiddle.

Beneath the great white dome in Washington our law makers are writing history in the hall of Congress, while their homes are the center of that social interchange that represents the intricate machinery of the stage. Washington society is of itself a factor conducive to the dissemination of the informal mingling in the happy freedom of the 5 o'clock tea.

It is on record that more state secrets are hatched and disclosed over the nuts and wines than any amount of lobbying could accomplish. It is not the professional lobbyist who to-day wields the scepter in the halls of Congress, but the fashionable hostess who understands her part and arranges her menu to tempt the palate of her guest.

How many legislative favors are won across the flower-decked board will never be reckoned. Yet the age writes its story on the page of time. The power wielded by the wife of a politician possessed of ordinary diplomacy is unbounded, and when to this quality is added wit and beauty her success is assured. A well known social leader whose husband has been twice elected to the Senate asserts that a successful social career is sufficient to guarantee a re-election to Congress, and that one brilliant entertainment properly reported has more influence with a constituent than any number of official favors.

Conspicuous among women whose influence has been felt in legislation without apparent deviation from her natural environment may be numbered such congressional dames as Mrs. Frye, Mrs. Elkins, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Gallinger and Mrs. Driggs. In order of precedence Mrs. Frye may take the lead, in view of the Senator's long and repeated tenure of office and from the fact of his wife being at once a woman of modesty and decided political opinions. She has from the first assumed an influential position among the resident hostesses, her familiarity with delicate points of etiquette and thorough knowledge of political questions rendering her advice eagerly sought by those less fortunate, while her sweet womany heart has never been known to refuse assistance to those in need.

Senator and Mrs. Frye have for a great many years occupied a suite of handsome apartments at the Hamilton Hotel, during the winter, spending their summers quietly at their primitive little cottage on Squirrel Island, off the Maine coast, where the Senator may indulge in his favorite pastime—fishing—forgetful of the world of politics and all that lies beyond his horizon.

Mrs. Elkins, wife of the Senator of West Virginia, is also regarded a beloved and familiar figure among residents, her beautiful home on K street, west of Farragut square, being ranked as one of the charming social centers of the city. Twice returned to Congress, Senator Elkins has also been a Cabinet minister under the Harrison administration, when Mrs. Elkins' receptions were the most enjoyable and largely attended of each season.

As Miss Hallies Davis, daughter of ex-Senator Davis of West Virginia, she enjoyed a thorough familiarity with social life that well fitted her for her present responsible position. Her sudden change of politics is in conformity with her ideas of wifely duty.

Mrs. Cushman K. Davis, wife of the Senator from Minnesota, is essentially a true and loyal helpmate to her illustrious husband, who is justly proud of his handsome wife. Mrs. Davis possesses an innate power of discernment and gifts of diplomacy that renders her approval or disapproval not to be ignored; her naturally vigorous health and splendid vitality being an invaluable quality in her social career. To require advice or assistance is sufficient introduction to Mrs. Davis' good graces and her hand is ever outstretched in liberality.

Mrs. Gallinger, wife of the Senator from New Hampshire, enjoys a widespread personal popularity for her many lovable qualities of heart and mind. A truly devoted wife and mother, Mrs. Gallinger takes a keen interest in her husband's political career and willingly endures any amount of fatigue in the interest of her obligations. When duty calls this brave little woman never flinches, but swallows all mere personal preferences in its fulfilment.

Mrs. Edward H. Driggs, the wife of Representative Driggs of Brooklyn, N. Y., is reckoned one of the most attractive among congressional women, her charming personality and cultivation of mind rendering her eagerly sought after among social leaders. To be a friend of Mrs. Driggs is a privilege jealously sought after. Essentially a womanly woman, Mrs. Driggs is an ardent politician at heart and takes a keen pride in her husband's political ambition.

Where It Started.

When a knight of old entered the company of ladies he removed his helmet to indicate that he considered he was among friends, and that there was no need to protect himself. This practice has survived in the custom of tipping the hat when saluting a lady.

A LOCK OF HAIR.

And Why the Young Ladies Asked for the Clergyman's.

A venerable, white-haired clergyman recently preached in the parish of a friend. He had hardly got back to the vicarage from the church when the door bell rang, and a charming girl of eighteen asked to see him. He received her. They talked about the sermon and other things, until finally she asked, diffidently:

"Oh, won't you please give me a lock of your hair?"

"Certainly, my child," said the old gentleman, flattered at the request. "I send it to you to-morrow." And he did.

On his return to his own home he had five more requests of the same kind, and he proudly boasted to his wife that he was glad to see that he had not yet lost his power to please. All went well until his wife received this note:

"Dear Mrs. ——: Won't you please ask your husband to send me just a little lock of his hair? We have all been taking lessons in making hair flowers. So many of the girls have asked him, and he sent it to them, that I thought I would rather ask you to get it for me. Won't you please do this for me. It is so hard to get white hair for lilies of the valley."

This was a terrible blow, and the less now said about locks of hair in that old gentleman's presence the better.—Titbits.

Simple Addition.

Father—Now, my dear, when you marry I would advise you to take to yourself an oldish man, one who would take care of you, one who has sobered down, say about 50 years of age.

Daughter—I would rather have two of 25.—Judy.

Truth and Obedience.

Caller—Bridget Maguire has referred me to you for her character, madam.

Housekeeper—Well, she's a very good girl.

Caller—I suppose you found her truthful and obedient then?

Housekeeper—Well, she could hardly by both. You see, I frequently had occasion to tell her to say I wasn't at home.—Philadelphia Press.

IT WORKED.

His Story Just Suited the Good Old Lady.

There is a good old lady in one of the western towns who prides herself upon discrimination in giving charity. She will not listen long to one of the stock tales of woe, but is liberal in giving when convinced that her generosity is deserved. A strapping fellow, long of beard but short of clothing, appeared at her back door recently.

"Did you ever have a fortune and lose it? In other words, have you seen better days?" and she spoke like an old-time school examiner.

"No, mum, I'se allus been poor."

"Have you a wife and anywhere from seven to thirteen children dependent upon you?"

"No, mum, I'se alone in the world."

"Have you been tramping from door to door for the last three weeks looking for work and could get none?"

"No, mum. I walked inter town a hour ago, and hasn't had time to hunt work yet."

"Of course you were at Santiago or Manila, and will have a pension coming?"

"No, mum. I would have 'listed ef our own country had been attacked, but I never could help prosecute them heathens."

"Come right in. It does me good to feed and clothe an honest man that's in distress," and he ate to repletion and went forth in a suit that still retained a good deal of the nap.

"I heerd of that fine old leddy afore," he chuckled to himself as he walked jauntily down the street. "I guess I must 'er passed about 100 on that there examination.—Exchange.

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, VA., Dec. 31.

I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught have done more for me than anything else.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

THE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

The Closing Session and the Election of Officers.

Reported for the Telegram.

On Monday morning, after devotional exercises, the business of the convention was resumed. Reports were read and discussed. Especial attention was given to the report on Mother's Meetings and purity. Mrs. Turner of Asheville, superintendent of this department, gave interesting and touching experiences which had come under her observation while carrying on this work. There is in Asheville a Rescue Home for fallen women, where these unfortunates are received and trained for better lives. Encouraging work has already been done there, but the institution is in need of friends, and we trust some one may be moved to assist in this noble work.

Election of officers were held with the following result:

Mrs. Mary E. Cartland, president.

Mrs. C. E. Craven, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. F. E. Ross, recording secretary.

Mrs. W. H. Osborne, treasurer.

The noontide hour was given up to memorial exercises for those of our number who have passed to the other side during the past year.

Monday afternoon the convention was given a drive to Biltmore. This was not the regular day for visitors but a special permit was given the convention. Rain fell incessantly, but we forgot it after entering the flower bordered driveway of Biltmore. The laurel and rhododendron were in full and profuse bloom, and we are sure the pleasures of that afternoon drive will long linger in our memories. As we stood on Conway Heights overlooking Biltmore, with the clouds drifting about the summits of the lofty mountain peaks, the scene presented was one of beauty and grandure, and one long to be remembered. At Biltmore some of us got our first view of the French Broad, so noted for its beauty.

Monday evening the annual contest between the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held. Miss Mabel Heitman represented Greensboro Female College, subject, "Neal Dow and his Times." Miss Emma King, Guilford College, subject "International Arbitration and the Heroes of Peace." Miss Nora Davis, Elon College, subject, "Woman's Relation to Temperance." Miss Emma King was awarded the prize of books.

The contest was followed by an address by Mr. Andrew Harris of Henderson.

Tuesday forenoon session closed the 18th annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

This has been a successful and enthusiastic meeting, and we enter upon a new year's work with much hard work before us and we desire that we may have the hearty co-operation of all lovers of humanity and all who are engaged in their uplifting and salvation.

Widow Thought a Husband Would be Superfluous.

"Don't you know whether it's new or not. I heard it down in Bermuda," said the man who recently returned from that winter resort.

"There is a rich widow living just outside of Pontiac," according to this story, "and after several elderly gentlemen had vainly endeavored to lure her into matrimony again report had gained circulation that she was a regular man hater. Finally a wealthy widower from the East, carrying with him the evidences of good living and the heartiness that seeks congenial companionship, visited the city and was soon a caller upon the intractable widow. After he thought sufficient advancement had been made to justify a proposal he proceeded to feel his way.

"'Beautiful home you have here.'

"'Yes, I enjoy it.'

"'Fine outlook, fine trees, fine yard, very fine all around. But there is one thing lacking'

"'Yes?'

"'It is an Adamless Eden, don't you know. You are so good in everything else that I should think you would be glad to share these blessings with a husband.'

"'Are you proposing, sir?'

"'In an argumentive way. If you can be convinced that you should have a husband, I should like to be the man.'

"'Husband! I have a gardner that smokes and drinks! I have a parrot that swears like a pirate, and I have a cat that stays out all night. What in creation do I want with a husband?'"

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED BY

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BCTTLES.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.
